This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

JOSÉ FRANCISCO CARRET.

On Wednesday, Dec. 8, 1897, died José Francisco Carret, for over twenty-two years a member of the Library service.

Mr. Carret was the son of Joseph Carret and Eliza H. Tidd. He was born in Trinidad de Cuba, April 5, 1834; was educated in the Blossom St. School, Boston, and Lawrence Academy, Groton, Harvard College (two years with the Class of 1853), and the Lawrence Scientific School, from which he graduated with the degree of B.S. in 1856. He taught school in Iowa one year, in Auburn, N. Y., two years, in the public schools of Cincinnati three years; resigning to enter the quartermaster's service in the Federal Army in 1863. From 1865 to 1874 he was in business in Cincinnati. In the fall of 1874 he returned to Boston.

He entered the library service January 28, 1875 as Curator of the Patent room and of the Tosti engravings. In connection with the care of these departments he was employed in the Catalogue room, first assisting in the proof-reading of the Ticknor catalogue, and later in general cataloguing. In 1880 he was appointed Register, succeeding Frederic B. Perkins, and continuing in this office until its duties were absorbed in those of the Executive Officer. From 1880 to 1894 he served also as Mr. Knapp's alternate in the care of Bates Hall.

He edited the miscellaneous division of the Barton catalogue and supervised it through the press. He prepared for the Bulletin the lists of Coins and Medals; French Spoliations; Spanish and Portuguese books (available for home use); Landscape Gardening; Electricity; the Telegraph and Telephone.

In June, 1893, he was assigned to the care of the Shelf Department. Meantime he had submitted to the Trustees a plan for the rearrangement of the Bates Hall collection in the new building. This plan was adopted on the removal of the books.

This work involved great labor and intricate computation, upon which Mr. Carret spent many hours outside of the library day. His eyes were seriously affected by the strain, and in the spring of 1895 he was compelled to take a two months' leave of absence. Shortly after his return to work he was stricken ill in a way to render it evident that some break had occurred in his system, of which the trouble with his eyes was, perhaps, but a symptom.

In the reorganization of certain departments of work on January 1, 1897, he asked to be relieved from the conduct of the Shelf Department, and assigned to special work exempt from executive responsibility or the burden of initiating new methods. This work was the repair, classification, and cataloguing of the maps, a large collection of which in the Library had been accumulating without the attention which could assure their preservation or render them available for use. Upon this work he continued, with interruptions due to illness, until his death.

Mr. Carret's value to the Library lay in part in the special knowledge that he brought: a knowledge of Spanish that was of service in the preparation of the Ticknor catalogue and in the classification and cataloguing of early maps; a familiarity with the terms of applied science; and a nicety in matters requiring computation and mechanical skill. But what he brought in character and habit was as essentially of value: disinterestedness, devotion to method, and exceeding patience. No care was to him too punctilious, no labor too assiduous, in reducing to conformity a mass of detail. In his personal relations with his associates he was remarkable for honesty of opinion, simplicity of bearing, gentleness, loyalty and a cheerful optimism, which made him one of the sunniest of companions.

CURRENT LIBRARY NEWS.

An Exhibition of photographs of mural decorations in America, consisting mainly of the decorations in the National Library, has been held in the Barton-Ticknor room.

The Lectures by Mr. Hopkins before the teachers in the public schools, on the subject "The History of Painting," have been supplemented, as last year, by a selected list (printed at the end of the syllabus of the lectures) of books in the Library that may be drawn for home use. Books of plates, and other restricted material illustrative of each lecture, will be displayed on the Special Libraries floor each Monday preceding the lecture.

Such Photographs as have thus far been received as the result of gift and purchase have been located in a cabinet on the Special Libraries floor, and may now be examined in the building. The collection comprises at present only Italian architecture, painting and sculpture, the Egyptian and Greek antiquities in the British Museum, and examples of the Preraphaelite school. Orders are outstanding for several thousand more, which will be mounted and located as soon as received.

GALATEA COLLECTION.

PREFACE.

The following letter shows the purpose and scope of the Galatea Library. The classification has been adopted with a view to the future growth of the collection, which now numbers about 1084 volumes. The Trustees of the Public Library would be glad to secure the coöperation which Mr. Higginson suggests in developing this collection.

25 BUCKINGHAM STREET, CAMBRIDGE, February 11, 1896.

HERBERT PUTNAM, ESQ.

DEAR SIR: I desire to give to the Boston Public Library a special collection of books, now amounting to nearly one thousand, and bearing on the general subject of the History of Woman. I would make only the condition that these should be placed, at least for the present, in an alcove or alcoves by themselves, in the hope that they may be used freely by students, and that other donors may gradually coöperate in building up a department of some permanent value.

It is needless to say that I should not desire to see any general separation in any library between works relating to men, and works relating to women, as this would be a thing absurd and impracticable. But the great changes that have gone on within recorded history in the social, industrial, and educational position of women, render all this an important theme for special study, and a proper basis for a separate department in every large library. It is such a department that I desire, with the aid of others, to establish; and I am very confident that it will find special students to whom it will be of value. Indeed, this has proved to be the case more than once while these books have been under my own roof.

I am not aware that such a department has before been created in any public library, though one or two college libraries in our Western States have been mentioned as beginning on similar collections. Several large collections of books written by women have been made in Europe; and among my books there are printed catalogues of two of these, both now scattered, the Ferri and the Stainforth Libraries. But both these contained the works of women only—not works about women; and the same was the case with the remarkable library of women's writings which I visited in the Women's Building at Chicago, and most of whose contents are still kept together, I believe, in that city. None of these, therefore, were general collections like that at which I aim.

The collection has hitherto borne the name of "The Galatea Collection of Books relating to the History of Woman", and is roughly catalogued under that appellation; but I do not in the least require that this name should be made permanent, nor do I make any other condition whatever. I am satisfied that the authorities of the Boston Public Library will fully consider the suggestions already made, and will, if they accept the gift, carry out these suggestions wisely. The books have been in process of collection for nearly fifty years, and include a good many that are rare and curious. They are in a variety of languages, and many of them would now be duplicated with difficulty. The question how far they should be used inside the building and how far outside must be left wholly to your judgment. . . . I desire to add that I am influenced in making this gift, such as it is, not only by the conviction that it is the best use to be made of the collection, but by a warm regard for the Boston Public Library itself; having received from it many favors in years past and having as a member of the Legislature taken an active part in securing for it the piece of land on which its present building stands.

I am yours very respectfully,

(Signed) THOMAS WENTWORTH HIGGINSON.

Cooperative Index of Serials.

An analytical card index of 184 serials (supplementary to Poole's Index and other existing bibliographies) has been begun, and is now ready for the use of the public. The cards are arranged by author and subject (following the headings of the general catalogue), in one alphabet.

This index, which begins with the volumes for 1898, is prepared in coöperation by the Harvard College Library, the Columbia College Library, the New York Public Library, the John Crerar Library of Chicago, and the Boston Public Library, and is published by the American Library Association, which also offers the cards for sale to such other libraries as wish to subscribe. The serials to be indexed have been selected in accordance with the wishes of the five coöperating libraries, and no attempt has been made to cover the whole ground that might usefully be occupied.

Publications devoted to the natural and mathematical sciences alone have not been included, in view of the plans of the Royal Society of London for cataloguing scientific literature, but the works of the more important learned societies, which cover a wide field, have been taken. The other serials analyzed relate to sociology and political science, anthropology and ethnology, archæology, philology, Oriental studies, geography, history, and philosophy.

It is hoped that the support of libraries in general will ultimately allow a large increase in the list of serials indexed, which is as follows:

CURRENT LIBRARY NOTES.

GALATEA COLLECTION. The catalogue of books relating to the history of woman, given by Col. T. W. Higginson, which appeared in the Bulletin for March, has been reprinted in separate form.

CHAMBERLAIN COLLECTION. A supplement to the pamphlet descriptive of this collection of autographs, containing full and exact texts of the four great documents of American history, the Address to the King, the Declaration of Independence, the Articles of Confederation, and the Constitution, has been issued and may be had on application. Accurate copies of the documents, to which are added the autograph signatures of the signers, are hung in the room for Younger Readers.

LECTURES. Among recent exhibitions of pictures have been two held in connection with lectures in the Fine Arts department. The first was illustrative of a conference, with several speakers, of the Unity Club of Dorchester on the subject of Greek Art. The second illustrated a lecture by Prof. D. G. Lyon of Harvard, under the auspices of the Unity Art Club, on the subject of Assyrian Art, Life, and History.

DECORATED PAPER COVERS. The collection belonging to Mr. Walter M. Rowlands, supplemented by examples loaned by Miss Susan Minns and others, and to the Library, was on exhibition in March. The collection comprised about three hundred and fifty examples.

THE PHILIPPINES, CUBA AND THE WEST INDIES.

The Library has a large number of scholarly and valuable works on these islands; but they are omitted from this list, which aims to include for the most part lighter works of travel and observation, selected with a view to timeliness or general interest.

THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

Most of the works relating to these islands are in foreign languages. In the volume by Martínez de Zuñiga [3044.129.2] a list of publications covering more than 250 pages can be consulted by those who wish to make an extended study. Two of these selected titles of recent Spanish works are given below.

El Archipiélago Filipino [3088.62], published in Madrid in 1886, and Historia General de Filipinas [3088.60], Madrid, 1887, both by J. Montero y Vidal.

Estadismo de las Ilas Filipinas, ó Mis Viajes por este Pais. Por J. Martinez de Zuñaga. Madrid, 1893. 2 vols. [3044.129].

A very concise account, with an excellent map of the group, is in the 2d volume of Australasia (Stanford's Compendium of geography and travel), edition of 1894 [3048.178.2].

One of the latest and most comprehensive works is "The Philippine islands," by John Forman, member of the Royal geographical society [3045.120]. This was published in London in 1890, has a large map, and is a review of all that would interest a reader seeking to gain a general idea of the affairs of that colony. The following books of travel are of interest:

Rambles in Eastern Asia, including Manilla. By B. L. Ball. Boston, 1855 [3049.64=3046.68].

Visit to the Philippine islands. By Sir John Bowring. London, 1859 [3046.14].

Though somewhat out of date, still worth reading.

Travels in the Philippines. By F. Jagor. London, 1875 [3040a.58].

Still a valuable work.

The Philippine islands. By S. Kneeland. N. Y., 1883 [3012.102].

This was first published in the Bulletin of the American geographical society and is largely devoted to the physical characteristics of the islands. The author has an illustrated article on Manila in Harper's magazine for March, 1890.

A lady's visit to Manilla and Japan. By Anna D'Almeida. London, 1863 [3017.19].

Twenty years in the Philippines. By P. P. de La Gironière. London, 1853 [5049a.69].

A brief and very readable narrative of the author's adventures in these islands.

Wanderings of a globe-trotter. By L. S. Wingfield. London, 1889 [3047.80.2].

Vol. 2 relates to Japan and the Philippines.

In "Le Tour du monde" for 1886 is a series of finely illustrated articles on the Philippine islands [6391.1. 1886].

The following are among the latest magazine articles on these islands:

Cuba of the far East. In North American review for Feb., 1897.

Martial law in the Philippines. In Chambers's journal, April 17, 1897.

The rebellion in the Philippines. In National review, Feb., 1897.

Spanish rule in the Philippines. In Cosmopolitan, October, 1897.

These magazines are in the Periodical Room.

A map, on a very large scale, of Manila harbor and Cavite is posted in the Patent Room, where can be found large charts of Cuba and neighboring islands.

CURRENT LIBRARY NOTES.

PUBLICATIONS. A classified list, with author and subject index, of books in the Library on the subject of Social Reform, was issued in July. It is arranged under four main heads, Early Industrial and Social Conditions, Present Industrial and Social Conditions, (Labor Question, etc.), Schemes of Social Reform (Socialism, Anarchism, Coöperation, etc.), and the State and its Functions. Price, 5 cents; by mail, 10 cents.

ALTERATIONS. Among alterations at the Central Library building during the past summer, a new system of pneumatic tubes has been installed. These tubes convey to the book-stacks the reader's application slip. The discontinuance of the old system, and the experimentation necessary in the installation of the new, have involved delays and miscarriages of slips, which have more or less inconvenienced readers. It is hoped that in a short time, on the completion of the new system, such delays will be corrected.

EXHIBITIONS. During the summer, illustrative material in connection with the celebration of the following anniversaries was shown:

Fourth Centenary of Americus Vespucius.

Memorial Day.

Battle of Bunker Hill.

Among miscellaneous exhibitions, unbound plates from recent accessions in the various branches of Industrial Art, plates from a work on the Municipal Architecture of Boston, photographs of public buildings, cathedrals, etc. in Great Britain, of mural decorations in America, a collection of photographs of mural decorations in the Panthéon, Paris, a collection of photographs by Hollyer of paintings by Burne-Jones, have been hung in the Fine Arts Room. Pictures of American ships of war, of recent naval engagements, etc., cut from periodicals and other sources, and mounted in the Library bindery, have been exhibited.

CURRENT LIBRARY NEWS.

ALTERATIONS. The room for younger readers will remain open during alterations. The classification of the books is, however, necessarily confused, and some inconvenience may be experienced by readers through delay in finding titles called for.

SPECIAL LIBRARIES. The work of classes and clubs in this department, in the subjects of fine arts and travel, has begun. Application may be made for the consultation of material in these subjects, either for a single meeting or for reservation during a longer or shorter time.

LIBRARY SERVICE. The force of assistants required for the operation of the Library, within its means, is now complete. Several hundred applications on file provide for possible vacancies; and of these many represent applicants who have had excellent general education, and library training or experience, and who have demonstrated capacity in examinations for this particular service.

The Librarian feels, therefore, that in fairness he ought not at present to encourage further applications.

Any person desiring still to file an application will be furnished by the Librarian's clerk with the necessary blanks and a circular descriptive of the service; and will be notified of any examinations to be held for the grade for which he applies.

Neither the Librarian nor the Librarian's Secretary can, however, longer undertake personally to confer with applicants, to the neglect of the necessary routine work of the Library, whether the purpose of the interview be to inquire as to opportunities for employment here or elsewhere, or as to effective methods of training for library work. Information of the latter class can be obtained by addressing one of the several library schools, for example:

The New York State Library School, Albany, N. Y.

The Pratt Institute Library School, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Drexel Institute Library School, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Wm. I. Fletcher Summer School, Amherst, Mass.

STATISTICAL DEPARTMENT. The Library of the American Statistical Association has been received, in accordance with the following letter of gift and vote of acceptance, and is now in process of examination. When this is completed and the material is in form to be consulted, notice will be given in this department of the Bulletin.

[From the Trustees' Records, June 16. 1898.]

AMERICAN STATISTICAL ASSOCIATION.

Boston, Mass., June 16. 1898.

To the

TRUSTEES OF THE BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY,

Gentlemen:

The American Statistical Association of which General Walker was president for so many years, until the time of his death, and of which Col. Wright is now president, has a valuable library of statistical works, especially rich in public documents of foreign countries . . . At the last meeting of the Association, held in April of this year, the Library Committee of the Association was given power to transfer the library to the Trustees of the Boston Public Library if they were willing to accept the gift, the only condition being that the purely statistical portion of the library should be kept together, and that members of the Association should have free access to the shelves of this collection . . .

Very truly yours,

(signed) DAVIS R. DEWEY,

Secretary.

VOTED, that the above gift of the Library of the American Statistical Association be accepted, and that the Librarian arrange for the transfer of the material at such times and in such manner as may be convenient.

CURRENT LIBRARY NEWS.

ALTERATIONS. During the changes preparatory to the removal of the Newspaper reading-room to the first floor, papers not found in place may be had on application to the Attendant.

SPECIAL LIBRARIES. During November, exhibitions have been held of photographs of works by P. Puvis de Chavannes, who died on October 24; and of photographs and plates illustrative of the art of Ancient Egypt, in connection with a lecture by Mrs. Marie Buckman, Secretary of the Egypt Exploration Fund. The lecture was given in the Fine Arts room of the Library.

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS AND STATISTICS. A reorganization of the collections of documents is under way, in the charge of Mr. Worthington C. Ford, late Chief of the Bureau of Statistics of the Treasury Department, Washington. Material already on the shelves will be assembled, systematic effort made to complete the collections, and the scope of the whole increased. The library of the American Statistical Association, the gift of which was noticed in the November bulletin, has been added to the collections belonging to the Library.

The Division will at no distant day be fully equipped for the service of the public. Not only are the issues of the United States government received, but the leading publications of the different states and municipalities are on file. The foreign reports of a corresponding character will be added, and special care paid to keeping the department in touch with the important problems of government now under discussion in Europe and America. Statistics on population, finance, commerce, transportation, migration, and colonies, among other topics, will receive special attention.
